Accessing Workday from home

After the birth or adoption of your child, you will need to update some information in Workday. If you do not have access to BMO network while you are on leave, you can log in to Workday from any computer at https://wd3.myworkday.com/bmo/login.htmld or download the Workday app from the App Store or Google Play.

FYI: You will first need to set up a series of security challenge questions in Workday from a computer or device connected to the BMO network – so we encourage you to do this prior to your leave. The next time you access Workday from outside the BMO network, you will then need to set up a Workday password.

About BMO's U.S. Maternity Leave

BMO recognizes the physical, emotional, psychological, and financial demands of childbirth and parenting, and we feel that a period of leave is important for the well-being of both parent and child. To support our employees in their roles as parents, we offer benefits for maternity leave.

Birth mothers are eligible to take a total of 24 weeks of continuous maternity leave following the birth of a child. The first 16 weeks are paid by BMO, and the second 8 weeks are unpaid.

Eligibility

Employee eligibility

All full-time and part-time employees scheduled to work at least 20 hours per week are eligible for the full maternity leave benefits described in this guide. There is no waiting period to be eligible for Maternity Leave benefits.

How to apply for Maternity Leave

Within 30 days of your expected delivery date, contact BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) at 1-888-295-7862 to initiate a Maternity Leave claim. BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) will send you a packet of information, including the "Request for Maternity Leave Form" that you will need to complete and return to BMO's leave administrator (Matrix). It is recommended that you return your paperwork as quickly as possible to expedite the set-up of your Maternity Leave claim.

Important: When your child arrives, you will need to notify BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) within two days of the delivery to begin your Maternity Leave. Your pay may be interrupted if you do not promptly report the birth of your child.

Your first 16 weeks of Maternity Leave

For the first 16 weeks of continuous¹ leave, birth mothers are eligible to receive 100% salary continuation starting on the first business day on or following the birth of a child. The "maternity leave paid benefit" is calculated using your total compensation divided by 26, which is the number of pay periods per calendar year. This amount will be slightly higher than the employee's usual bi-weekly pay as BMO divides annual salary by 26.0714286. During the first 16 weeks of maternity leave, benefits continuation and job protection will be provided.

Your eligible total compensation is your base salary, overtime, shift differential and any variable pay that is related to work performance that you receive between October 1 and September 30 of the prior year. For example, for 2024, your total compensation is based on eligible pay paid from October 1, 2022, to September 30, 2023. You can view your total compensation in Workday. In your worker profile, select "Actions"- "Benefits" – "View Benefits Annual Rate". Variable pay includes: team-based plans (based on company, corporate, department or unit performance); managerial plans; sales, incentive, and commission-based plans; business referral plans; and ad hoc cash awards related to performance.

¹ Maternity leave must be taken as a continuous leave. You may choose to return to work before the 16 weeks of paid time have elapsed, however you will not be able to resume maternity leave benefits later.

If you reside in a state that provides paid disability benefits or paid family leave benefits, you will be required to apply for your state's benefits. Your paid maternity benefit from BMO will be offset by the amount you receive from your state. BMO's leave administrator will be able to confirm if you need to apply for benefits through your state and if your paid BMO benefit will be offset.

Please note: If you experience complications that require you to go on a medical leave before the birth of your child, contact BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) to apply for Short-Term Disability. You will be switched to Maternity Leave once you deliver your child and you will still be eligible for the full 16 weeks of paid time under the Maternity Leave Benefit. If you experience medical complications after the birth of your child that affect the length of your leave (extending your leave past the 16 weeks of paid time), BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) can assist you with an application for Short-Term Disability.

How Family Medical Leave and Maternity Leave work together

The Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (FMLA) is a United States federal law requiring covered employers to provide employees with up to 12 weeks of job-protected and unpaid leave for qualified medical and family reasons, including the birth of a child.

While only time off and job protection are mandated by FMLA, BMO has chosen to offer paid Maternity Leave running, concurrent with Family Medical Leave (FML), to provide you with paid leave.

You will be considered to be on two types of leave at the same time – Maternity Leave and Family Medical Leave. Therefore, you can expect to receive the legally required notifications from BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) regarding the approval of your Family Medical Leave, which may or may not match the approved timeframes for your Maternity Leave if you have taken any FML time in the 12 months before the birth of your child.

Regardless of the approved length of your FML, you are eligible for the full 16 weeks of paid Maternity Leave and an additional 8 weeks of unpaid Maternity Leave after the birth of your child. Employees who are not eligible for Family Medical Leave are covered under BMO's Leave of Absence operating procedure. In this case, Maternity Leave will run concurrent to an approved Leave of Absence to provide paid leave benefits and job protection.

The next 8 weeks of Maternity Leave

Maternity Leave and your Incentive Pay

If, during the Incentive Pay plan year, you are on a paid or unpaid leave of absence, any allocated incentive award will be pro-rated based on your actual time worked. Incentive payments will be made on the regular payment date for the plan, provided all other eligibility criteria are met. Please see the Short-Term Incentive Plan Document on the HR Intranet for more information.

Your benefits during maternity leave

Your benefits coverage will continue without interruption during your maternity leave. Throughout the paid portion of your leave, premiums will continue to be deducted from your pay.

If you choose to take additional unpaid maternity leave, your benefits coverage will continue and you will owe premiums during the unpaid leave. Your premiums will accumulate in arrears. When you return from leave, your regular deductions will resume and any arrears will be collected at a rate of one additional deduction per pay until your arrears balance is zero.

For example, if you are on an unpaid leave and three medical and three dental premiums accumulate, you can expect to see the following deductions on your pay when you return from leave:

Payroll (after return from leave)	Medical deduction ²	Dental deduction ²
3 missed paychecks during leave	Arrears balance = $600 (Assumes a $200 regular medical deduction)	Arrears balance = $150 (Assumes a $50 regular dental deduction)
1 st payroll af- ter return from leave	$200 regular deduction + $200 arrears deduction $400 total deduction New arrears balance = $600 - $200 = $400	$50 regular deduction + $50 arrears deduction $100 total deduction New arrears balance = $150 - $50 = $100
2 nd payroll after return from leave	$200 regular deduction + $200 arrears deduction $400 total deduction New arrears balance = $400 - $200 = $200	$50 regular deduction + $50 arrears deduction $100 total deduction New arrears balance = $100 - $50 = $50
3 rd payroll af- ter return from leave New arrears balance = $200 - $200 = $0		$50 regular deduction + $50 arrears deduction $100 total deduction New arrears balance = $50 - $50 = $0
4 th payroll af- ter return from leave	$200 regular deduction	$50 regular deduction

² Medical and dental deductions amounts reflected in this guide are for illustrative purposes only and do not reflect actual plan premiums.

Qualified Life Event allowable changes

The birth of a child is considered an IRS recognized "Qualified Life Event", which allows you to make certain changes to your health and insurance benefit elections within 90 days of the birth date of your child. Please see the following chart for a list of the allowable changes you can make to your benefits as a result of the birth of your child.

Plan(s)	Allowable change(s)
Medical, Dental and Vision	 Add your newborn child to your coverage
Health Care Flexible Spending Account and Health Savings Account	Begin/stop contributionsIncrease/decrease contributions
Dependent Care Flexible Spending Account	Begin/stop contributionsIncrease/decrease contributions
Basic and Supplemental Life Insurance	 Increase/decrease supplemental life coverage Update beneficiaries³
Family Life Insurance	 Increase/decrease Spouse Life and Child Life coverage Newly enroll in Spouse and Child Life coverage
Supplemental Long-term Disability	Newly enroll in coverage
Voluntary Benefits	 Increase coverage Update beneficiaries³
401(k) Savings, Retirement Plan and Em- ployee Share Purchase Plan	• Update beneficiaries ³

Did you know? BMO offers a Dependent Care Flexible Spending Account to help you save on your child's eligible dependent care expenses. If you pay someone to care for your child while you are at work, you can set aside money from your paycheck on a pre-tax basis, which in turn reduces the amount of your income subject to taxes. The birth of a child allows you to newly enroll or increase your Dependent Care Spending Account contributions.

Commuter benefits

If you are enrolled in commuter benefits, your elections will continue during your leave unless you proactively cancel your elections(see instructions under the "Updating your benefits" section). To stop the following month's order, you must cancel your elections before the 10th of the month (or the 4th for Long Island and Metro North Railroad users in New York). If your election remains active during your leave, you will be required to pay for deductions owed during that time. When you return from leave, you can re-enroll to resume participation in the commuter benefits.

³ Beneficiary designations can be updated at any time.

Maternity Leave checklist and considerations

Step	Details	Status Check Box
Before	e your leave
1	To initiate your maternity leave claim, contact BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) at 1-888-295-7862 within 30 days before your anticipated delivery date.
2	Determine how much maternity leave time you would like to take and discuss your plans with your manager.
3	Complete and submit the 'Request for Maternity Leave Form' to BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) before your leave. If you cannot submit the form before your leave start date, submit it as soon as possible after to avoid pay interruption.
4	Determine if the state you live in provides paid disability leave or paid family leave benefits and initiate a claim through your state. (Matrix can confirm this for you if you are unsure.)
5	Enter any vacation and/or sick time you will be using into Workday if you plan on taking unpaid leave following your 16 weeks of paid Maternity Leave.
During	your leave
1	Contact BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) and your manager within two days of delivery to confirm your leave start date.
2	Notify your health insurance provider of the birth within your plan's required timeframe.
3	Add your child to your benefits coverage in Workday within 90 days of the birth, adoption or placement, if applicable.
4	Change your life insurance and retirement plan beneficiaries, if applicable.
5	Change your income tax withholding elections, if applicable.
6	At your six-week follow-up doctor visit or before your expected return-to-work date, have your doctor complete the "Physician's Certificate of Work Readiness" form.
Returr	ing to work
1	Notify BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) and your manager as soon as possible if there is a change to your return-to-work date.
2	On your first day back, contact BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) and your manager to confirm that you have returned.
3	Ensure that your manager responds to the email from BMO's leave administrator (Matrix) to certify that you have returned to work. This is a critical step to return you to active status and resume receiving pay.
5	Depending on which systems you use for your job, your manager may need to work with Technology to restore your system access.
